Introduction to delineation of appearance and character in natal astrology. The following document is a hand-written analysis of James Madison, using the principles of medieval predictive astrology. The discipline of natal astrology focuses on the fate of an individual based on a horoscope cast for the moment of birth. Within natal astrology, the 1st house occupying the eastern horizon at birth describes the native: physical vitality, appearance, and character. Between the Hellenistic and Medieval eras several specialized models were developed to assess these characteristics. They include longevity (vitality and length of life), physiognomy (form and shape of the face and body), victor of the chart (overall life purpose), manners (social conduct including ethical behavior), and temperament (elemental mix of fire, earth, air, and water with applications in medical astrology). Prior research has presented models and results for longevity (A Rectification Manual: The American Presidency, Chapter 4) and physiognomy (Astrological Physiognomy: History and Sources & Astrological Physiognomy: Empirical Tests of the Leo Rising Decan).

Victor of the Chart. Included are two competing models for computing the victor of the chart said to be the single most powerful planet in the horoscope. According to Plato's follower Porphyry, by configuration in the natal horoscope the planet signifying the victor of the chart shows the life choice made by the soul prior to incarnation. Plato explains the details of his soul model in The Myth of Er found in the closing pages of his work The Republic. Porphyry and his peer Antiochus offer specific rules for determining the victor of the chart. The method of Antiochus/Porphyry is compared to a later method for determining the victor suggested by the Jewish Rabbi Abraham ben Meir ibn Ezra, a philosopher and astrologer active in the 12th century. For a discussion of these two models, see the companion paper Victor of the Chart: Testing Methods of Antiochus/Porphyry and Ibn Ezra, which serves as a key to what is presented here.

Manners. Plato was not alone among Greek philosophers in conceiving models for the soul. Aristotle's model of vegetative, sensitive, and intellective soul levels (assigned respectively to the plant, animal, and human kingdoms) was taken up by Ptolemy, who found a correspondence between the sensitive and intellective soul and Moon and Mercury in the natal horoscope. Configuration of the Moon and Mercury, with special emphasis given to their rulers, is a second method for analyzing the soul. Ptolemy introduces this model in Tetrabiblos III.13 "Of the Quality of the Soul." Subsequent authors refer to this model as "Significators of the Soul" or "Manners." A summary template for the Moon and Mercury is presented in the paper and will be further developed in future versions.

James Madison

James Madison (March 4, 1751 AD JC – June 28, 1836)

Madison was a brilliant political philosopher and pragmatic politician. He won recognition as the "Father of the Constitution," served in the Continental Congress as well as the House of Representatives, and founded the Democratic-Republican Party with his mentor, Jefferson. As President, Madison's efforts to keep the peace through diplomacy failed, and he led the Nation through the indecisive War of 1812 against Britain and the beginning of the ensuing period of nationalistic fervor. Domestically, with the support of Congress, he strengthened U.S. military forces, created the Second Bank of the United States, and enacted a protective tariff.

A scion of the planter aristocracy, Madison was born in 1751 at Port Conway, King George County, Va., while his mother was visiting her parents. With her newborn son, the first of 10 children, in a few weeks she journeyed back to Montpelier estate, in Orange County, which became his lifelong home. He obtained his early education from his parents, tutors, and a private school.

An excellent scholar though frail and sickly in his youth, in 1771 Madison graduated from the College of New Jersey (present Princeton University), where he demonstrated special interest in government and the law. But, considering the ministry for a career, he stayed on for a year of postgraduate study in theology.

Back at Montpelier, still undecided on a profession, Madison soon embraced the patriot cause, and State and local politics absorbed much of his time. In 1775 he served on the Orange County committee of safety; the next year, at the Virginia Convention, which advocated various revolutionary steps and framed the Virginia constitution; in 1776-77 in the House of Delegates; and in 1778-80 in the Council of State. His ill health precluded military service.

Madison was chosen in 1780 to represent Virginia in the Continental Congress (1780-83 and 1786-88). Although originally the youngest Delegate, he played a major role in its deliberations. Meantime, in the years 1784-86, he had again sat in the Virginia House of Delegates.

Madison was a guiding force behind the Mount Vernon Conference (1785), attended the Annapolis Convention (1786), and was otherwise instrumental in the convening of the Constitutional Convention (1787). Preeminent at the Convention, he served on key committees and tirelessly advocated a strong Government. His Virginia Plan was in large part the basis of the Constitution. And his journal of the Convention, which was not published until after his death, remains the best single record of the event.

Madison also played a major part in guiding the Constitution through the Continental Congress. Leading the pro-ratification forces in Virginia, he successfully defended the instrument against powerful opponents. Earlier, in New York, where he was serving in the Congress, he collaborated with Alexander Hamilton and John Jay in a series of essays that in 1787-88 appeared in the newspapers and were later published in book form as The Federalist (1788), a classic in political theory.

As a U.S. Representative (1789-97), Madison helped frame and pass the Bill of Rights. He also assisted in organizing the executive department and creating a system of Federal taxation. As leaders of the opposition to Hamilton's policies, he and Jefferson founded the Democratic-Republican Party. In 1794 Madison married a vivacious widow who was 16 years his junior, Dorothea ("Dolley") Payne Todd, who had a son; they were to raise no children of their own. Although spending the period 1797-1801 in semiretirement, Madison authored the Virginia Resolutions, which attacked the Alien and Sedition Acts. While he served as Secretary of State (1801-9), his wife often acted as President Jefferson's hostess. Her lavish parties at the White House dazzled the Capital City for years.

In 1809 Madison succeeded Jefferson. Like the first three Presidents, Madison was enmeshed in the ramifications of European wars. Diplomacy had failed to prevent the seizure of U.S. ships, goods, and men on the high seas; and a depression wracked the country. Madison continued to negotiate with the warring parties and applied economic sanctions, eventually effective to some degree.

But continued British interference with American shipping created strong congressional sentiment for war. The "War Hawks," a group of mostly young Democratic-Republican Congressmen from the South and West who were territorial expansionists as much as defenders of the national pride, urged naval action to punish the British, the conquest of Canada, and military measures to end British fomenting of the Indians in the West. Eventually agreeing that U.S. honor and economic independence were at stake, in 1812 Madison asked Congress to declare war against Britain.

The young Nation was ill prepared. Federalist alienation in New England sapped the war effort. Poor generalship, inadequate troop strength, and supply and transportation problems frustrated the Army's efforts to conquer lightly defended Canada. At sea, despite victories in individual encounters, the U.S. Navy found itself unable to cope with the Royal Navy, which blockaded the coast.

The British captured Washington, burned the White House, Capitol, and other buildings, and forced the Government to flee the city for a time. The war ended in stalemate in December 1814 when the inconclusive Treaty of Ghent, which nearly restored prewar conditions, was signed. But thanks mainly to Andrew Jackson's spectacular victory at the Battle of New Orleans (Chalmette) in January of 1815, most Americans believed they had won. Twice tested, independence had survived and an ebullient nationalism marked Madison's last years in office, during which period the Democratic-Republicans held virtually uncontested sway.

During the last 3 years of his administration, Madison concentrated on his domestic program. Congress, concurring in three of his proposals, strengthened land and naval forces to avoid the repetition of raids on the Capital and to protect the country as a whole and its commerce; established the Second Bank of the United States; and enacted a protective tariff on foreign manufactures. Although Madison favored internal improvements, he vetoed on constitutional grounds a congressional bill that sought to finance the building of roads and canals with Federal funds. In retirement after his second term, Madison managed Montpelier, but continued to be active in public affairs. He served as cochairman of the Virginia constitutional convention of 1829-30 and as rector of the University of Virginia after 1826. Writing newspaper articles defending the administration of Monroe, he also acted as his foreign policy adviser.

Madison spoke out, too, against the emerging sectional controversy that threatened the existence of the Union. Although a slaveholder all his life, he was active during his later years in the American Colonization Society, whose mission was the resettlement of slaves in Africa. He passed away at the age of 85 in 1836.

Stage I. Determine the Ascendant sign

Physiognomy

Madison is an example of a horoscope whose Ascendant sign can quickly be rejected on physiognomy grounds alone. The hair, white in portraits of all ages, wig or no wig, parted down the middle with round semi-circle eyebrows are all Cancer features. Hairline shows a widow's peak and the color of the eyebrows contrasts sharply with the skin tone. These are Scorpio features which are indicated by the rising sign generally, but by the Moon's sign in Scorpio as ruler of the 3rd rising decan of Scorpio which is Cancer.

Moon's Configuration

The other difference between the 12:00 midnight stated birth time and the slightly earlier proposed rectification is the Moon's configuration. For the stated birth time, the Moon separates from Mars and applies to the Sun. For the proposed rectification, the Moon separates from Jupiter and applies to Mars. The latter (favored by this rectification) has a much better delineation which matches the tenor of Madison's life. He was also a wartime President. As documented in ARM, p. XXXX Presidential horoscopes with the Moon applying to Mars all promised wartime Presidencies. Madison was no exception.

Primary Directions

PT	D	Jupiter/Capricorn	P	Mars (O) d. => ASC	18-Jun-1798
PT	D	Jupiter/Capricorn	P	Mars (MA) d. => ASC	21-Dec-1798

*LOCK* The first of the Alien & Sedition Acts passes on 18-Jun-1798. This action prompts both Madison and Jefferson to write resolutions adopted by the State legislatures of Kentucky (through Jefferson's actions on 16-Nov-1798) and Virginia (through Madison's actions on 24-Dec-1798). This is an extremely precise sequence and in my opinion is the key to the entire figure with Mars also functioning as Madison's victor. Mars is Madison. Capricorn is the universal signifier of proponents of a strong central government (a.k.a., the Federalist/Hamilton faction). Madison fights the Alien & Sedition Acts which aim to protect the central government through censorship of free speech which criticizes the President. This direction does not show the Acts themselves; it shows Madison's actions in response to passage. Note communications and the press are 3rd house affairs; shows Mars in the 3rd by whole signs as a viable delineation.

PT	D	Mercury/Scorpio	P	Moon (MO) d. => MC	19-Jul-1804
PT	D	Mercury/Scorpio	P	Moon (0) d. => MC	29-Jun-1805

This sequence times the infamous impressments of an American in New York's harbor during June 1804 and Madison's subsequent study and criticism of Britain's Rule of 1756 which effectively left neutral American trading ships subject to capture by British vessels during wartime. Note the Moon rules the 9th whole sign of foreign affairs and though placed in the 1st whole sign house is actually very close to the 12th cusp using quadrant houses.

REG	D	Mars/Taurus	P	DSC d. => Venus (VE)	21-Aug-1805
REG	D	Mars/Taurus	P	DSC d. => Venus (VE)	13-Sep-1805

Dolley Madison (and James) travel to Philadelphia for treatment of a tumor near her knee. She spends 3 ½ months in Philadelphia for treatment. During October and November James leaves her alone in Philadelphia which is the longest time the couple spent apart since they were married. Venus/Aries rules the 7th of spouse and placed in the 6th is the 12th from the 7th by derived houses. Venus is ruled by Mars/Capricorn, Capricorn = shin, ties illness to the knee.

PT	D	Venus/Aries	P	Venus (VE) c. => DSC	12-Feb-1813
PT	D	Venus/Aries	P	Venus (0) c. => DSC	19-Jun-1813
PT	D	Venus/Aries	P	Venus (BI) c. => DSC	25-Oct-1813

PT	D	Jupiter/Capricorn	P	Mars (BI) d. => IC	27-May-1813
PT	D	Jupiter/Capricorn	P	Mars (0) d. => IC	11-Jun-1813
PT	D	Jupiter/Capricorn	P	Mars (MA) d. => IC	27-Jun-1813

These two primary direction sequences overlap and time a large wave of military losses during the War of 1812 as well as Madison's serious illness of bilious fever. As some feared Madison's death, this incident is notable because it is the most serious illness for a sitting President since Washington's infection and near death in May 1790. Venus is placed in the 6th of illness but with Mars, the ruler, occupying the superior square, both planets are related to illness.

26-May-1813, Britain's Royal Navy extends blockade to additional states.

19/29-Jun-1813, Madison ill with bilious fever, some fearing death.

REG	D	Saturn/Pisces	P	sin trine ASC d. => Mars (MA)	22-Apr-1814
REG	D	Saturn/Pisces	P	sin trine ASC d. => Mars (0)	12-Aug-1814

*LOCK* This sequence timed the most ferocious fighting of the War of 1812 as Napoleon's abdication on 6 April allowed British forces to redeploy their front against the French to America. As the sequence started, the British extended their blockade to New England on 25-Apr-1814. By 17-Aug-1814, the British fleet dropped anchor just outside Washington DC in preparation for burning the capital which they accomplished on 24-Aug-1814. By whole signs, Mars/Capricorn falls in Madison's 3rd house of transportation, a match to military action in ports.

PT	D	Mars/Pisces	P	Sun d. => North Node	1-Jul-1836
----	---	-------------	---	----------------------	------------

Death, 28-Jun-1836. Nodes kill by placement in the 2nd-8th house axis.

Planets/Nodes placed in the Ascendant sign or decan:

Longevity: 85y 3m 13d

Releaser and kadukhudhāh. Figure is nocturnal and Moon/Scorpio/1st qualifies as the releaser. Sign lord Mars in exaltation, to which the Moon applies in a partile sextile aspect, is the kadukhudhah. Mars grants 66 major years. In a slightly less complicated computation compared to the 1st-3rd editions of A Rectification Manual; simply adding Jupiter's 12 minor years by trine aspect yields a target longevity of 78yrs which takes Madison to 1829. In 1830 his health began a downward spiral, suffering from rheumatism and fever. Venus does aspect Mars by square and receives Mars by diurnal triplicity and decan; however, Mars' reception of Venus by sign is stronger. It appears that Venus does add her 8 minor years taking Madison's longevity to 86yr, but these years are a low quality of life for Madison which is indicated by the mixed reception between Venus and Mars.

Victor of the Chart: Mars/Capricorn

Both Mercury and Mars score well in Porphyry's Stage I initial screening. Mars/Capricorn in its sign of exaltation, placed 10th from the Lot of Fortune, and the planet to which the Moon applies is the clear winner. Mars/Capricorn signifies Madison's anti-Federalist political views and his status as a war-time President fighting Britain with whom the Federalists were aligned.

Manners: Saturn-Mars (sign based); Saturn-Mercury (bound based)
