Introduction to delineation of appearance and character in natal astrology. The following document is a hand-written analysis of Henry Agard Wallace, using the principles of medieval predictive astrology. The discipline of natal astrology focuses on the fate of an individual based on a horoscope cast for the moment of birth. Within natal astrology, the 1st house occupying the eastern horizon at birth describes the native: physical vitality, appearance, and character. Between the Hellenistic and Medieval eras several specialized models were developed to assess these characteristics. They include longevity (vitality and length of life), physiognomy (form and shape of the face and body), victor of the chart (overall life purpose), manners (social conduct including ethical behavior), and temperament (elemental mix of fire, earth, air, and water with applications in medical astrology). Prior research has presented models and results for longevity (A Rectification Manual: The American Presidency, Chapter 4) and physiognomy (Astrological Physiognomy: History and Sources & Astrological Physiognomy: Empirical Tests of the Leo Rising Decan).

Victor of the Chart. Included are two competing models for computing the victor of the chart said to be the single most powerful planet in the horoscope. According to Plato's follower Porphyry, by configuration in the natal horoscope the planet signifying the victor of the chart shows the life choice made by the soul prior to incarnation. Plato explains the details of his soul model in The Myth of Er found in the closing pages of his work The Republic. Porphyry and his peer Antiochus offer specific rules for determining the victor of the chart. The method of Antiochus/Porphyry is compared to a later method for determining the victor suggested by the Jewish Rabbi Abraham ben Meir ibn Ezra, a philosopher and astrologer active in the 12th century. For a discussion of these two models, see the companion paper Victor of the Chart: Testing Methods of Antiochus/Porphyry and Ibn Ezra, which serves as a key to what is presented here.

Manners. Plato was not alone among Greek philosophers in conceiving models for the soul. Aristotle's model of vegetative, sensitive, and intellective soul levels (assigned respectively to the plant, animal, and human kingdoms) was taken up by Ptolemy, who found a correspondence between the sensitive and intellective soul and Moon and Mercury in the natal horoscope. Configuration of the Moon and Mercury, with special emphasis given to their rulers, is a second method for analyzing the soul. Ptolemy introduces this model in Tetrabiblos III.13 "Of the Quality of the Soul." Subsequent authors refer to this model as "Significators of the Soul" or "Manners." A summary template for the Moon and Mercury is presented in the paper and will be further developed in future versions.

Henry Wallace

Henry Wallace (October 7, 1888 – November 18, 1965)

Henry Agard Wallace was an American politician, journalist, and farmer who served as the 11th U.S. Secretary of Agriculture, the 33rd vice president of the United States, and the 10th U.S. Secretary of Commerce. He was also the presidential nominee of the left-wing Progressive Party in the 1948 election.

The oldest son of Henry C. Wallace, who served as the U.S. Secretary of Agriculture from 1921 to 1924, Henry A. Wallace was born in Adair County, Iowa in 1888. After graduating from Iowa State University in 1910, Wallace worked as a writer and editor for his family's farm journal, Wallaces' Farmer. He also founded the Hi-Bred Corn Company, a hybrid corn company that eventually became extremely successful. Wallace displayed an intellectual curiosity about a wide array of subjects, including statistics and economics, and he explored various religious and spiritual movements, including Theosophy. After the death of his father in 1924, Wallace increasingly drifted away from the Republican Party, and he supported Democratic presidential nominee Franklin D. Roosevelt in the 1932 election.

Wallace served as Secretary of Agriculture under President Roosevelt from 1933 to 1940. He strongly supported Roosevelt's New Deal and presided over a major shift in federal agricultural policy, implementing measures designed to curtail agricultural surpluses and ameliorate rural poverty. Overcoming strong opposition from conservative party leaders, Wallace was nominated for Vice President at the 1940 Democratic National Convention. The Democratic ticket of Roosevelt and Wallace triumphed in the 1940 presidential election, and Wallace continued to play an important role in the Roosevelt administration before and during World War II. At the 1944 Democratic National Convention, conservative party leaders defeated Wallace's bid for re-nomination, replacing him on the Democratic ticket with Harry S. Truman. The ticket of Roosevelt and Truman won the 1944 presidential election, and in early 1945 Roosevelt appointed Wallace as Secretary of Commerce.

Roosevelt died in April 1945 and was succeeded by Truman. Wallace continued to serve as secretary of commerce until September 1946, when Truman fired him for delivering a speech urging conciliatory policies towards the Soviet Union.^[1] Wallace and his supporters established the Progressive Party and launched a third-party campaign for president. The Progressive party platform called for conciliatory policies towards the Soviet Union, desegregation of public schools, racial and gender equality, free trade, a national health insurance program, and other left-wing policies. Accusations of Communist influences and Wallace's association with controversial Theosophist figure Nicholas Roerich undermined his campaign, and he received just 2.4 percent of the nationwide popular vote. Wallace broke with the Progressive Party in 1950 over the Korean War, and in 1952 he published Where I Was Wrong, in which he declared the Soviet Union to be "utterly evil". Wallace largely fell into political obscurity after the early 1950s, though he continued to make public appearances until 1964, a year before his death in 1965.

Stage I. Determine the Ascendant sign

Firdaria

The following events confirm the validity of the nocturnal horoscope:

Major Jupiter (7-Oct-1908 to 6-Oct-1920). Begins work for family publishing business as writer for Farmer magazine; Begins to plant hybrid corn.

Major Mars (7-Oct-1920 to 6-Oct-1927). A difficult period. The 1920s under the Harding-Coolidge administration coincided with his father's service as Secretary of Agriculture. The McNary-Haugen farm bill, advocated by both Wallace and his father was repeatedly rejected under these administrations.

Major Sun (7-Oct-1932 to 6-Oct-1942). Begins service as Secretary of Agriculture in FDR administration on 4-Mar-1933 (Sun-Sun). Nominated for and Elected VP Jul- and Nov-1940 (Sun-Jupiter).

ZRS and Configuration of the Chart

Time	ASC	L.Fortune	L.Spirit
7:30 PM (ADB)	25TA11	20AR52	29GE27
8:52 PM (proposed)	18GE40	13TA35	23CA45

Note that within 2 minutes after the ADB time, the Lot of Spirit moves into Cancer, a possible delineation match to a politician dedicated to progressive policies for the common man (Moon-ruled Cancer). Fortune is different. For the ADB time LOF in Aries makes LOF10 in Capricorn which timed some key features of his life but not as dramatically as LOF10 in Aquarius (for the proposed time) which identifies chapters including the start of his writing career for his family's farm publication and his successful VP nomination.

As a farmer, earth signs should be strongly emphasized in the horoscope, especially in the 4th house of real estate. Taurus is either the Ascendant sign (ADB) or the Lot of Fortune (proposed). Testimony against the ADB time is primarily based on the 4th house which is the sterile sign of Leo occupied by the out-of-sect malefic Saturn. This is an inconsistent placement with fertile agricultural real estate as a key life themes. The proposed time keeps Taurus active as the Lot of Fortune in the 12th (research) and also places Virgo on the 4th which is more consistent with agricultural productivity, especially since Mercury, together with the Moon and Venus, are in the fertile sign of Scorpio. Also consider that Gemini rising is consistent with Wallace's intellectualism and career as a writer.

Conclusion: Choose Gemini as the trial Ascendant.

KEY – Mubtazz Scoring

Single point: assigns 1 point for each essential dignity

Early medieval: sign 5, exaltation 4, bound 3, primary triplicity lord 2, decan 1. Used by al-Kindī and Māshā'allāh.

Late medieval: sign 4, exaltation 4, triplicity lords (all) 3, bound 2, decan 1. Used by Schoener; taught by Zoller.

Fixed Stars from Janus 4.3 software. Criteria: conjunction within 2 degrees longitude.

Additional

Moon's Configuration: Moon separates from Saturn and is VOC, nocturnal, conjunctual.

Moon-Mercury whole sign aspect? Yes. Moon and Mercury are co-present.

Do scoring methods agree? Mars (sign-based) or Jupiter-Venus (bound-based).

Ascendant decan: Libra

Ascendant decan ruler: Venus/Scorpio

Planets/Nodes placed in the Ascendant sign or decan: Sun in sign of rising decan.

Longevity: 77y 1m 11d

Releaser and kadukhudhāh. Figure is nocturnal but Moon in 6th is disallowed. Sun/Libra/5th qualifies with bound lord Jupiter/Sagittarius aspecting by waning sextile. Jupiter is the kadukhudhāh and grants 79 major years. Mars is co-present with Jupiter and deducts 15 minor years for a net projection of 64yrs. On 8-Aug-1950, age 61y 10m, Wallace resigned from the Progressive Party and quickly faded from public view. It appears that Jupiter's rulership of Mars, and not the other way around, is responsible for Wallace's reduced life activity after age 64. Jupiter's major years are the better indication of Wallace's actual longevity.

Victor of the Chart: Jupiter/Sagittarius

Though Venus scores 3 points by sign rulership, Jupiter scores 3 points by bound rulership and matches Wallace's advocacy (Jupiter in the 7th) for growth and freedom in multiple realms. Biographers Culver and Hyde named Wallace's biography "American Dreamer." This choice is confirmed by Firdaria with Jupiter's major years launching his writing career, Sun-Jupiter timing his successful VP nomination, and Venus-Jupiter for the unsuccessful Progressive Party Presidential bid.

Manners: Mars (sign-based) or Jupiter-Venus (bound-based).
